The Garden That Is Different

GOOD GARDENS are made only with strong, vigorous plants. These we offer at HILDEMERE. Advice as to selection and culture freely given.

*My soul must be a common thing,
I must be formed of dullest clay;
An orchid leaves me quite unmoved,
While larkspurs urge my lips to pray.
No frail gardenia ever yet
Has caused a song to rise in me,
But once in March's bitter gale
A violet taught me gallantry.
Oh, what can rare camellia mean
To one who loves a pansy head,
Who understands the sturdy pulse
That throbs within a zinnia bed?*
